Double Patenting

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-33 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 17-50 and 1-63 of copending Application No. 09/977,667 and 09/977,547 respectively. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because both claim an apparatus comprising a carrier having at least two separated well and a specimen handling tool.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The preamble of independent claims 1 and 18, from which all of the remaining claims depend, are directed to a "diagnostic" testing system. The remainder of the claim fails to claim means for diagnostic testing. It appears the invention is directed to a system for sample collection. Substitution of sample collection for diagnostic testing in the preamble would clarify the issues.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Dunskey (USP 4,293,074) or Beddow (USP 4,226,328).

The cited prior art all teach a carrier comprising at least two well separated by a barrier and an hour glass shaped specimen handling tool further comprising two cooperating arms joined at one end and that form a point at the other end for grasping the specimen.

Claims 1-10, 12-26 and 28-33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Horan et al. (USP 5,339,955) or Rauschenberger (USP 4,160,505).

Art Unit: 1743

The cited prior art all teach a carrier comprising at least two well separated by a barrier and a specimen handling tool further comprising two cooperating arms joined at one end and that form a point at the other end for grasping the specimen.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 11 and 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Horan et al. (USP 5,339,955) or Rauschenberger (USP 4,160,505) in view of Dunskey (USP 4,293,074) or Beddow (USP 4,226,328).

See these references supra.

Art Unit: 1743

Horan et al. (USP 5,339,955) and Rauschenberger (USP 4,160,505) are silent to the "hourglass" shape of the sample handling tool.

Both Dunskey (USP 4,293,074) and Beddow (USP 4,226,328) teach it is known to use an hourglass shaped tools. This shape is advantageous because it readily fits into the human hand and permits a greater application of force.

It would have been within the skill of the art to modify Horan et al. (USP 5,339,955) or Rauschenberger (USP 4,160,505) in view of Dunskey (USP 4,293,074) or Beddow (USP 4,226,328) and use an hour glass shaped specimen handling tool to gain the above advantages.
